@MX_TURING
by holly adams

@MX_TURING is an evolving twitter bot performance created to dissolve cyber-sexism from the inside out.

By occupying the presumably human space of a twitter account, profile, and identity, this bot acts as a tool to enable the viewer a look into the twittersphere and utilize the power of code to disrupt online harassment.

TOOLS:

Search and retweet: the user utilizes the search function and random keywords to understand the depth of twitter harassment and hate

Archive retrieval: digs through a bank of related information and theory to compose tweets

Evolutionary tweeting: the bot's past tweets and linguistic patterns are used to create new statuses and statements, pushing @MX_TURING's own cyber-reality and further displacing human bias from the online realm

Streaming and listening: listens and retweets mentions of particular keywords

Systematically displaced minorities should own the digital sphere where social restrictions can be dissolved! Let @MX_TURING teach you how to reach into the internet and customize it through code.

This work is open source and customizable for individual use! Crack open the internet for your own needs.

For more information and to download the code and demo videos visit hollyadams.net/turing